

The City

© 2012 Lyrics by Tiffany Sanura Harris
Music by Kata Kozma & Tiffany Sanura Harris
From the EP: View From The Q
Artist: Sanura

Met him at an open mic in Brooklyn
Met her when she tried out for my band
He's just like my ex, a better version
But she's like nothing i ain't never had Thought that me and him would be forever
Until me and her crossed paths
I swear she must've come straight down from heaven
Perfect head to toe in every way
Oohhh...

I don't wanna hurt nobody
But every move i make seems wrong
Broke up with my past to see the future
But she don't want it no more.

I'm just gonna blame it on the City
Everything moves faster in the City
Emotional disaster in the City
Now i know
Anything can happen in the City
Found some love and lost it in the City
The City.

It's been on my mind a little while now
Never thought it'd happen like this
Maybe just a cutesy little fling yeah
Two women experimenting but,
What is this emotional connection
Getting deeper as the days go by?
She is my new favorite addiction
But damn she wasn't even my type.

White girl, got soul
But somethin' so authentic
And majestic, don't be offended.
He don't like it cuz
This is more than lust

I don't wanna be
A hinderance to he
He deserves much more
And so does she...
I don't wanna hurt nobody
But every move i make is wrong
I ain't mean to do that
Every move i make is wrong.
I ain't mean to do that
Every move I make is wrong.
I ain't mean to do that
Every move I make is wrong.

© 2012 Lyrics by Tiffany Sanura Harris
Music by Kata Kozma & Tiffany Sanura Harris